

AccuSpray

AccuSpray is developing and delivering a spray performance calculator to assist the cropping and horticultural industries to maximise crop yields, profit and pesticide application safety. The calculator has been developed at the University of Queensland's Centre for Pesticide Application and Safety, bringing together: an experienced team with strong international industry and regulatory links; and world-class facilities, to deliver a decision support tool for farmers and spray operators that provides reliable performance measurements and indices to maximise spray quality, whilst minimising drift potential. AccuSpray can help deliver real cost savings to users by reducing chemical loss and maximising effectiveness of application, whilst supporting the industry's social licence to continue to use these important management tools.

We are seeking investment into the AccuSpray company to further develop the platform, algorithms and data set to deliver AccuSpray to a global market.
