

David Burt – New Ventures Manager, CSIRO

David is an experienced strategy and commercial advisor who currently works at the CSIRO helping some of Australia's best research teams take their science and technology from the laboratory out into the world. David co-founded the CSIRO's "ON Program", which is the only national Accelerator program designed for publicly funded researchers and his current role is to support the new ventures that are emerging from this program.

Prior to this David has also worked in the Strategy Team at CSIRO, in Business Development for KPMG and taught strategy, innovation and entrepreneurship at the University of Sydney. David is actively involved in several non-profit organisations, including serving as a Non-Executive Director on the board of Planet Ark, an Australian not-for-profit organisation with a vision of a world where people live in balance with nature
