

Steve Marafiote – Managing Director, Sundrop Farms

Steve has held roles of Managing Director and CEO for more than 12 years in multinational businesses within the produce and food industries, including Australian Quality Plus, National Food Industry

Strategy and Chiquita. Most recently, Steve was the CEO of the South Australian Potato Company, one of Australia's major farming, washing and potato packing operations.

He is a former Chair of the South Australian Premiers Food Council, has exported to more than 35 countries, and has won multiple business awards for his commercial acumen and ability to develop multi-faceted and vertically integrated businesses. He comes from three generations of farming and retail operations within the horticulture industry.

